

Agent Frontier Factory

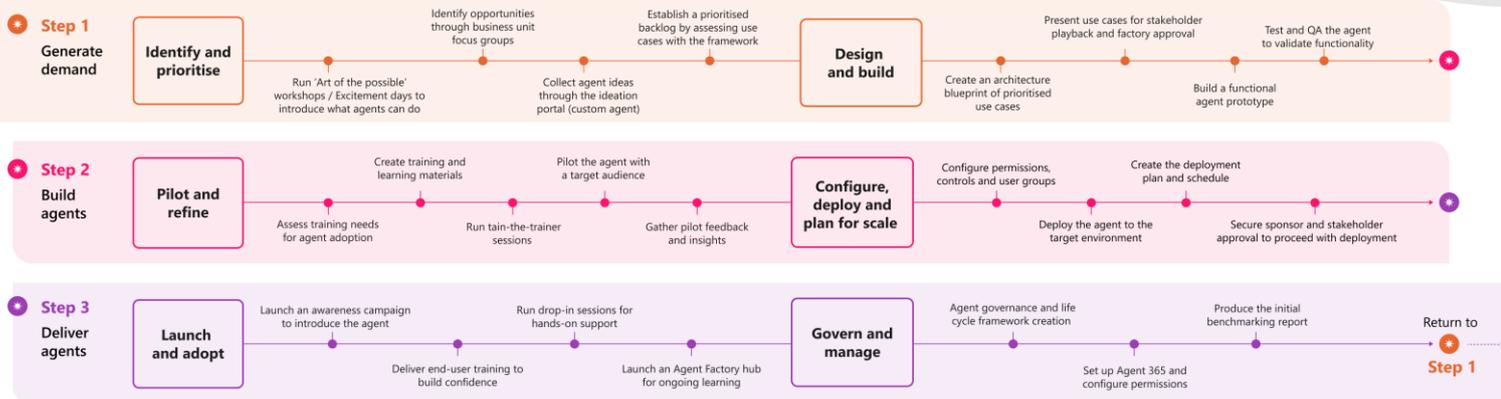

Agent Factory by Engage Squared is your end-to-end solution for transforming ideas into intelligent, autonomous agents that drive real business outcomes.

This engagement delivers a proven approach to generating organisation wide value by identifying real life high-impact use cases, collaborating with business stakeholders, and prioritising agent development to align with strategic objectives.

Organisations benefit from hands-on workshops, expert guidance in agent design, and access to best-in-class tools like Copilot Studio, ensuring each agent is purpose-built to automate workflows, enhance decision-making, and deliver measurable business value. Quality assurance, compliance, and governance are embedded throughout, so every agent meets organisational standards and security.

Our Agent Factory model

A comprehensive program that sets up a repeatable "factory" for developing and deploying AI-powered agents at scale.

Expected outcomes:

- You will have a documented, repeatable process for moving from idea generation to full enterprise deployment of AI agents.
- A factory model to continuously develop new agents in parallel, dramatically reducing time-to-value for implementing AI across departments
- A foundation for ongoing success, including a trained internal team (and optional managed service support) to continue operating the Agent Factory.

What is the timeframe of this engagement?

12 months

What is the expected annual investment?

Agent Factory is offered as a flexible service. A basic package (supporting a small number of agents) starts from ~$150,000 per year.

Who is this engagement suitable for?

This offer is best suited for forward-looking organisations that have experimented with AI or Copilot agents and are ready to scale up their use across the enterprise.
